I. MOTION

Bruce P. 1 vacating the Order Freezing Accounts entered by this Court on March 25, 2022, and 2 (3) Withdrawing its Order Granting Motion to Certify Issues to the Washington Supreme 3 Court entered October 20, 2022. This Motion is supported by the Declaration of Bruce 4 P. Kriegman submitted herewith and the Court file in this proceeding.

5 II. FACTS

6 This Court succinctly summarized most of the facts pertinent to this Motion at page 7 2 of its October 20, 2022 Order Granting Motion to Certify Issues to the Washington
 8 Supreme Court (Dkt. No. 44), as follows:

9 A judgment was entered against Defendants - who reside in Alabama -
 10 in the Eastern District of Washington for $117,411 in 2015. See Dkt. #13-11 7. Plaintiff registered the judgment in King County, Washington in 2022.
 12 See Dkt. #1-1. Plaintiff Bruce Kriegman, Chapter 11 trustee, filed an 13 application for a writ of garnishment with the Superior Court in King 14 County naming JP Morgan Chase Bank ("Chase") as the garnishee. See 15 Dkt. #1-2. Defendants removed the action to this Court. See Dkt. #1.
 16 Defendants challenged jurisdiction arguing that since they are Alabama
 17 residents and the situs of their bank deposits is Alabama, the bank 18 deposits cannot be garnished from the state of Washington. See Dkt.
 19 #18. This Court denied Defendants' motion to quash the writ, finding the 20 exercise of in rem jurisdiction did not violate due process. See Dkt. #28 21 (reasoning that "the garnishee undeniably has contacts with this forum 22 and holds accounts with Defendants' funds").

23 The following additional facts also are pertinent to this motion.

24 On March 25, 2022, on the stipulation of the parties, this Court entered an 25 Order Freezing Accounts (Dkt. No. 17). In substance, the Order Freezing 26 Accounts provides that the three accounts listed in said Order, containing funds in the total amount of $58,448.88 being held by reason of the Writ of Garnishment served on Chase, are to remain frozen pending further order of this Court (or further order of the King County Superior Court in the event this proceeding is remanded to the King County Superior Court).

1 On June 6, 2022, Defendants Ronald Ponton, Jr. and Tomika Ponton filed a 2 Motion with this Court asking this Court to certify an issue to the Washington Supreme 3 Court (Dkt. No. 32) (the "Certification Motion"). On October 20, 2022, this Court granted
 4 the Certification Motion in part by entry of its Order Granting Motion to Certify Issues
 5 to the Washington Supreme Court (Dkt. No. 44) (the "Certification Order"). Specifically, 6 the issue certified by this Court to the Washington State Supreme Court is the 7 following: "Under RCW 6.27.080, does a Washington Writ of Garnishment directed to 8 a financial institution that has locations throughout the United States attach to a 9 Judgment Debtor's bank accounts where the situs is in another state?"

10 On June 8, 2022, the parties filed with this Court their Joint Case Status Report 11 and Proposed Discovery Plan (Dkt. No. 34). At Section L of the Status Report, labeled 12 "Dispute Resolution", the parties agreed that "to the extent the case remains open, the 13 Parties agree to select a mediator from the list of attorney neutrals by July 31, 2022
 14 and engage in virtual mediation by September 30, 2022." Thereafter, the parties agree 15 to engage attorney Matt Turetsky as the mediator, and scheduled the mediation for 9 16 a.m. on Monday, October 31, 2022. However, on Tuesday, October 25, 2022, counsel 17 for Defendants unilaterally cancelled the mediation session "due to recent 18 developments in the case."

19 What initially began as a routine garnishment proceeding in King County Superior 20 Court has morphed into a time-consuming and expensive proceeding before this Court 21 and, now, into a proceeding before the Washington State Supreme Court based upon 22 this Court's Certification Order. While the Trustee had hoped to resolve this matter at 23 the mediation scheduled for October 31, that now is not going to occur given the 24 Defendants' unilateral cancellation of the mediation session.

At this juncture, the Trustee has determined that continuing the pursuit of the garnished funds (just over $58,000.00 frozen by reason of the garnishment) is not a wise and prudent business decision for the Trust, given the ongoing legal expense associated with continuing this litigation before the Washington State Supreme Court, and given Defendants' refusal to mediate (even though they agreed and told the Court they would do so). For those reasons, the Trustee has made the business decision, as the fiduciary for the LLS America, LLC Liquidating Trust, to dismiss its garnishment against Defendants, and as part of that dismissal, to have the Court vacate the Order Freezing Accounts and release the garnished funds to the Defendants. To implement that decision, the Trustee has filed this Motion with the Court.

III. LAW AND ARGUMENT

FRCP 41(a)(2) governs this Motion. Specifically, FRCP 41(a) authorizes this Court to dismiss a proceeding at the Plaintiff's request on terms the Court considers proper.

Under the circumstances present here no conditions should be imposed by the Court on granting the Dismissal Motion. The law is well settled that a defendant may not recover attorneys' fees when a plaintiff dismisses an action with prejudice absent exceptional circumstances. Aerotech, Inc. v. Estes, 110 F.3d 1523, 1528-29 (10th Cir. 1997). In the words of the Aerotech Court,

When a plaintiff dismisses an action without prejudice, a district court may seek to reimburse the defendant for his attorneys' fees because he faces a risk that the plaintiff will refile the suit and impose duplicative expenses upon him. In contrast, when a plaintiff dismisses an action with prejudice, attorneys' fees are usually not a proper condition of dismissal because the defendant cannot be made to defend again.

1 In the Ninth Circuit, even in the case of a voluntary dismissal without prejudice,
 2 payment of a defendant's costs and attorney fees is not a prerequisite to an order
 3 granting a voluntary dismissal. In Stevedoring Services of America, Ltd v. Armilla
 4 International, B.V., 889 F.2d 919, 921 (9th Cir. 1989), the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals 5 held that "the district court did not automatically abuse its discretion by refusing to 6 require SSA to pay Armilla's costs and attorney fees as a condition precedent to an 7 order granting voluntary dismissal without prejudice under Fed.R.Civ.P. 4l(a)(2)." In 8 so ruling, the Ninth Circuit set forth its reasoning as follows:

9 We need not decide the good faith question here, however,
 10 because the district court's decision denying costs and attorney 11 fees is justified by its consideration of other legitimate factors. The 12 district court explained that SSA had a realistic chance of prevailing 13 on its alter ego theory which was the gravamen of its request for a 14 writ of attachment. The district court commented that the alter ego 15 issue presented a close question which was resolved only after 16 weeks of hearings. When SSA lost on this issue it lost the writ of 17 attachment it had sought. SSA then decided to dismiss the case.
 18 Given these circumstances, the district court did not abuse its 19 discretion in refusing to order the payment of Armilla's costs and 20 attorney fees as a condition precedent to SSA's voluntary dismissal 21 without prejudice under Fed.R.Civ.P. 4l(a)(2). Id. at 922.

22 Not only is the dismissal without prejudice standard not applicable here because 23 the motion seeks dismissal with prejudice, the reasoning in SSA is equally applicable 24 inasmuch as defendants did not prevail on any of their defenses to the garnishment on 25 motions for a TRO and to quash the garnishment, including jurisdictional and statutory 26 interpretation defenses. Indeed, on March 22, 2022, this Court entered an Order Denying Motion for Temporary Restraining Order in which Defendants sought a release of funds. In denying the TRO, this Court ruled that "[I]t currently appears to the Court that this garnishment was valid under Washington law." Order Denying Motion for Temporary Restraining Order, page 3, line 18. Similarly, on April 25, 2022, this

1 Court entered an Order Denying Motion to Quash Writ, again finding the garnishment 2 to be proper under the garnishment statute:

3 (This statute does not appear to have been violated by Plaintiff.
4 Defendants have failed to convince the Court that there has been 5 some other statutory violation of Washington State's garnishment
6 act, RCW 6.27 et seq. Defendants have failed to convince the Court 7 that this statute is unconstitutional.

8 Order Denying Motion to Quash Writ, 4:16-20 (Dkt. No. 28).

9 As was the case with SSA, the Trustee here has made a business decision that 10 continuing the litigation has become economically impractical, notwithstanding bona 11 fide legal arguments that the garnishment is legal and enforceable. This Court should 12 dismiss this proceeding, vacate the Order Freezing Accounts, and withdraw the 13 Certification Order as moot.

14 IV. CONCLUSION

15 For the foregoing reasons, the Trustee's motion should be granted.

DECLARATION OF BRUCE P.
KRIEGMAN IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO DISMISS

NOTE ON MOTION CALENDAR:
Friday, November 18, 2022

Bruce P. Kriegman declares and states:

1. I am the court-appointed Chapter 11 Trustee for LLS America, LLC and Trustee of the LLS America, LLC Liquidating Trust (the "Trust").

2. On the advice of experienced collection counsel, the Trust initiated the garnishment proceeding that is the subject of this action by submitting an Application for Writ of Garnishment to the King County Superior Court on February 10, 2022. The

1 procedural history of this garnishment proceeding removed to this Court by the 2 Defendants is contained in the docket of this proceeding.

3 3. On March 25, 2022, on the stipulation of the parties, this Court entered an 4 Order Freezing Accounts (Dkt. No. 17). In substance, the Order Freezing Accounts
5 provides that the three accounts listed in said Order, containing funds in the total

9 County Superior Court).

10 4. On June 8, 2022, the parties filed with this Court their Joint Case Status
11 Report and Proposed Discovery Plan (Dkt. No. 34). At Section L of the Status Report, 12 labeled "Dispute Resolution", the parties agreed that "to the extent the case remains 13 open, the Parties agree to select a mediator from the list of attorney neutrals by July 14 31, 2022 and engage in virtual mediation by September 30, 2022." Thereafter, the 15 parties agree to extend the time for mediation and engaged attorney Matt Turetsky as 16 mediator setting the mediation for 9 a.m. on Monday, October 31, 2022. However, on 17 Tuesday, October 25, 2022, counsel for Defendants unilaterally cancelled the 18 mediation session "due to recent developments in the case." A copy of Defendants' 19 counsels email message to my Trust counsel confirming that cancellation is attached 20 hereto as Exhibit A.

21 5. What I understood to have begun as a lawfully initiated garnishment 22 proceeding in King County Superior Court has morphed into a time-consuming and

1 for October 31, that now is not going to occur given the Defendants' unilateral

3 6. At this juncture, I have determined that continuing the pursuit of the garnished
4 funds is not in the Trust's best interest or prudent use of its limited resources, given 5 the ongoing legal expense associated with further litigation in yet another forum, and 6 given Defendants refusal to mediate (even though they agreed and told the Court they 7 would do so). For those reasons and upon consideration of all other relevant factors, 8 I have made the business decision to seek dismissal of this garnishment action and

Good afternoon Shelley,

Due to recent developments in the case, our clients have decided to postpone the mediated settlement conference. I will let the mediator know. If Mr. Kriegman is open to a settlement conference with the parties but without the mediator in early December, please let us know and we can pick some dates.
